“There’s nothing more important to me than the protection of you, your business and your family.”

-Harry G. Petrey

As a local independent insurance agent, I have a genuine concern for the well being of our community. My customers are not numbers. They are names and faces - families, businesses and friends. I care about your welfare and security. Call me for the best combination of price, coverage and service. I want to help you protect your financial future.
